

IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF MARYLAND

A transcript of a hearing held in this case was requested and has been received by the Court. You have seven business days from the date of this notice to file a Statement of Intent to Review with the Court, stating your intent to review the transcript to determine whether to request redaction of sensitive private information before the transcript is made electronically available to the public, pursuant to the privacy policy of the Judicial Conference of the United States. Each party's attorney is required to review the opening and closing statements made on behalf of the represented party, any statements made by the party and the testimony of any witness called by the party. If a party is pro se, the party needs to perform this review himself/herself. The transcript is available for review at the Clerk's Office or copies may be purchased from the the transcriber.

Examples of information which may be redacted include all but the last four digits of social security numbers, all but the last four digits of account numbers, all but the initials of minor children, and all but the year of birth.

If you intend to review the transcript:

1. You have seven business days from the date of this Notice to file a Statement of Intent to Review Transcript stating your intent to review the transcript. Copies may be obtained directly from the transcriber for a fee. Only parties involved in the hearing may review a transcript under this notice; and
2. You have 21 days from the date of this Notice to review the transcript and file a Notice of Redaction of Transcript, listing the entries by page and line where personal data appears that should be redacted. A copy of the Notice of Redaction of Transcript must be sent to the transcriber; and
3. If you do not file a Statement of Intent to Review within seven business days from the date of this Notice, or if you file such a Statement but do not file a Notice of Redaction of Transcript within 21 days from the date of this Notice, the transcript will be made available to the public in its current form; and
4. If redaction of private information is requested, the redacted version of the transcript will be made available for public viewing in the redacted form.
